Final Reflection:

This summer with the ACLU's National Prison Project has been an invaluable experience, and I am deeply grateful for the chance to learn from and contribute to such impactful advocacy. From supporting litigation to speaking with directly impacted individuals, I have gained skills and insights that will shape my path as a civil rights lawyer. I am thankful to Equal Justice America for making this opportunity possible and to the NPP team for their mentorship and dedication—I leave this summer inspired and committed to continuing the fight for justice.
