Final Reflection:

A few weeks ago I completed my time with Legal Services of New Jersey. I can't emphasize enough how grateful I am for this opportunity to work for such an extraordinary organization. Being able to work directly with clients' cases in a variety of practice areas allowed me to build such important skills for my future legal career! Seeing how Legal Services benefits the lives of its clients is such an exciting thing to witness. I was able to see the true dedication that all of the attorneys at LSNJ have for their work, and it further supported my decision to work in public interest when I graduate law school.

Throughout the summer I was able to strengthen my legal research and writing skills while also building my client facing skills. I want to thank my supervising attorneys and the public interest team at Rutgers Law School and Equal Justice America for supporting me through this experience!
