Dear Mr. Ruben,

We hope this letter finds you well. Our names are Jasmin Cueto and Anna-Leah Poznanski, and we are law student interns at the Equal Justice America Disability Rights Clinic at John Jay Legal Services, Inc., located at the Elisabeth Haub School of Law. We are writing to express our deepest gratitude for your generous support of our clinic.

Thanks to your commitment to public-interest legal education, we had the opportunity to work on two significant matters this semester involving wills and powers of attorney. In both cases, we were able to guide clients through deeply personal and sometimes emotional decisions, ensuring that their wishes were documented clearly and that they had the legal protections they needed. These experiences were not only meaningful to our clients—who might otherwise have struggled to obtain this assistance—but also transformative for us as developing attorneys.

Furthermore, we were able to guide many people who call the clinic for help and guide them in the right direction. Some of the inquiries we get are too complex for the services we can offer. However, we still make it our mission to make sure we can help them in getting the resources they need and find services that can aid them further.

Your contributions make this work possible. Because of your support, we are able to serve members of the community who rely on the clinic for essential legal services, while we in turn gain invaluable hands-on experience. The services we offer here at the clinic are some of the most personal decisions one can make. It is an honor to help our clients in fulfilling such wishes and decisions. The Disability Rights Clinic has been one of the most impactful parts of our legal education, and we are deeply aware that the opportunities we have are a direct result of your generosity.

Thank you again for believing in us, this work, and for helping empower both our clients and the next generation of public-interest lawyers. We are truly grateful for this experience, and for your impact.

Sincerely,

Jasmin Cuteo
