

Summer 2020 EJA Fellow:

Name: Amy Reavis

Law School: University of California, Berkeley, School of Law

Organization: East Bay Community Law Center

Week of June 15th

Energized and lucky to be interning with East Bay Community Law Center as an Equal Justice America Fellow this summer. I am supporting work to oppose the criminalization of homelessness and protect the human and constitutional rights of people who are house-less in the Easy Bay!

Week of July 6th

East Bay Community Law Center works to ensure that our unhoused neighbors are treated humanely and respectfully by the state. Part of my work has been helping those who had their property destroyed by Caltrans complete reimbursement claims.

Week of July 27th

Alex Fay is one of the incredible interns I was able to join this summer at East Bay Community Law Center thanks to support from Equal Justice America. Her reflection on the racial disparities in ticketing and towing in the Bay is an excellent read. <https://ebclc.org/our-stories/student-reflection-the-problem-with-parking-tickets/>

Week of August 10th

Thank you East Bay Community Law Center and Equal Justice America for the opportunity to center my internship this summer on the needs of the Last Girl—the person in any given community who is valued the least, who comes in last. Curbside communities deserve to be treated with dignity by the state.

For more information about how EBCLC is protecting the rights of our unhoused neighbors, read about the Sanchez v. Caltrans settlement: <https://ebclc.org/in-the-news/caltrans-to-pay-up-to-5500-to-each-homeless-bay-area-resident-affected-by-camp-cleanups/>.