

Summer 2020 EJA Fellow:

Name: Ming Tanigawa-Lau

Law School: University of California, Los Angeles

Organization: Innovation Law Lab

Week of June 15th

@EQUALJUSTICEAMERICA

Bit.ly/EJASummer2020

OREGON WORKER RELIEF FUND

While privileged families like mine can keep working safely from home, millions have lost their jobs and are unable to make rent during this pandemic.

One of the things I've been stoked to work on this summer with @innovationlawlab has been the Oregon Workers Relief Fund, providing aid to many essential, hardworking people who have been excluded from federal aid and unemployment. #ejafellowupdate

Week of July 27th

 Ming T-L
August 1 at 9:03 PM · 🌐

As my summer with Innovation Law Lab comes to an end, Trump's deportation agenda proceeds full force. Even though the U.S. government has catastrophically failed to address the COVID-19 pandemic within our own borders, this has not stopped them from using the pretext of "protecting US citizens" to attempt to keep people from entering to seek asylum. I learned about this new proposed regulation as my last assignment, and encourage all those who are able to to submit comments protesting against it! (for more info: <https://www.humanrightsfirst.org/press-release/trump-administration-expands-public-health-pretext-block-asylum-seekers>) #EJAFellowUpdate Equal Justice America bit.ly/EJASummer2020 human rights first

HUMANRIGHTSFIRST.ORG

Trump Administration Expands Public Health Pretext to Block Asylum-Seekers

Week of August 10th

 Ming T-L
Just now ·

Working at Innovation Law Lab this past summer was a great way of gaining a broader perspective on my work at the border last summer, while being able to join a community of passionate and radical immigration advocates. I particularly appreciated this community during this summer of revolution, and am grateful to have been around others who share my visions of a radically different future for immigration, policing, incarceration, and racial justice more generally. It will tak... See More

 Like  Comment